A Statement to Madison and Dane County On Behalf of The Capital Times Company

Next week The Capital Times will enter upon the sixth month of its history.

About five months have now passed since the first issue of this publication.

The Capital Times expects to be judged in this community by the record it will build. Time and time only will develop that record on the printed page of this paper.

Time is the forerunner of truth. Time will dispel unfair misrepresentation. Time will nullify unjust villification Time will bring out into the open and will bare the maneuvers of the man who bears false witness.

When this newspaper was started business rivals and political enemies started a campaign of misrepresentation and villification. This campaign was furthered by secret intrigue, malicious slander and underhanded gossip. The men who conducted their campaign against this paper worked under cover and in stealth. They feared The Capital Times, therefore they tried to injure it.

The Capital Times was fully aware of the campaign being conducted against it. We remained silent, however confident that time would bring out the truth and would bring the answer to our enemies.

The letter printed in the adjoining column is the answer.

We believe that we may be pardoned for printing the history of events leading up to this letter. The narrative involves an issue in this community. It is the issue as to whether or not public sentiment will sustain those who use loyalty and patriotism to the attainment of their personal ends, whether or not loyalty and patriotism can be used in this community as weapons in business competition or political strife.

Before the first issue of this paper was on the street the campaign was inaugurated against The Capital Times. It was said that it would be a pro-German paper. It was said that it would not be loyal. It was said that it would be against the war.

Last fall two representatives of the department of justice came to Madison. They were assigned to this district to investigate charges of disloyalty and to investigate alien activities.

On the day of the third issue of this paper a business rival of The Capital Times called upon one of the representatives of the department of justice. He told the representative that the Capital Times was financed by pro-German money that the money was being raised largely among Milwaukee Germans and Germans in the state; that German Lutheran ministers in the state were soliciting subscriptions, and that the pro-German view point was to prevail in the policy of the paper. No facts to substantiate these charges were given.

About the same time the department of justice at Washington received complaints of a similar nature.

Following the usual routine of the department, one of the representatives stationed here received a letter from the department directing him to investigate the complaints that had been made.

Then came the next stage of the campaign. Word was quietly passed around that The Capital Times was being investigated by the United States government. This was done as part of the campaign to poison the sentiment in this community against The Capital Times.

The department of justice representative, at the beginning of his investigation called upon those who had made the complaints for specific information. He received only general allegations. They had no facts on which to base their charges.

Meanwhile The Capital Times was aware of developments. We decided to bide our time however, confident that the result of the investigation would turn out as it has turned out. We decided to await the results of the investigation as an answer to the slanders and misrepresentations that had been uttered against us.

When we became satisfied that enough time had lapsed for the government investigator to satisfy himself that there was nothing to the charges, we sent for him.

We then advised him that we desired to VOLUNTARILY place at his disposal every book and record of The Capital Times Company and that we wanted him to make a complete and exhaustive examination of the books of the company to supplement the investigation he had made. He was further told that if there was any information which he desired that did not appear in the records we would gladly give him the information.

The president of this company then showed the representative of the department where every cent, both directly and indirectly had come from. He was told that every bit of financial help given to start The Capital Times Company came from men interested primarily in the progressive movement in Wisconsin. They either invested or loaned their money for the reason that The Capital Times was to fight for progressive principles and for no other consideration.

Regarding the statement that money had come from Milwaukee Germans: It was shown that not one penny, directly or indirectly, had come from any Milwaukee German. It was shown that the only funds invested in The Capital Times from the city of Milwaukee came from a man who had been identified with the progressive movement for years; a man not even of German descent and a man who has been in constant demand for making patriotic speeches.

At the conclusion of the investigation the investigator made the following statement to the president of this company:

"This examination substantiates everything that I have found in my investigation. It is evident that the charges made against your company were for competitive and political reasons. I shall say this in the report which I shall make to the department."

The representative of the department said that he wished that he might give us a copy of his report but that he was prevented from doing so by the rules of his department.

The editor of The Capital Times then went to Washington and took the matter up with officials of the department of justice. We were told that the department of justice adhered to a rule that the results of all investigations should not be made public. However, we were told that in view of the report that had been made that if we would address a letter to the department they would be glad to answer such a letter.

Accordingly the following letter was sent to the department:

Washington, D. C.
April 16, 1918.

Hon. Thomas Gregory,
Attorney General of the United States,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:

Several months ago it came to the knowledge of the writer that complaints had been lodged with your department against The Capital Times Company, Madison, Wis. to the effect that money from pro-German sources had been used to finance the company. These complaints were instigated by business competitors and political enemies of The Capital Times Company.

Several weeks ago I sent for Mr. George R. Mayo, a representative of your department stationed at Madison and voluntarily placed before him all of the records and books of The Capital Times Company. Further, I placed at his disposal information as to the sources of all financial receipts of the company.

I would be pleased to have you advise me as to whether or not the investigation disclosed anything that would sustain the charges that have been made against The Capital Times Company.

Very truly yours,
The Capital Times Co.
William T. Evjue,
President.

The answer is printed on this page.

The Capital Times has laid these facts before the people of this community today because we know that many well-meaning people have been misled. The campaign against us was not instigated by motives of loyalty or patriotism but by motives of commercial competition and political revenge. The campaign against The Capital Times is only an example of the manner in which the American flag has been used to cover the machinations and the intrigues of those seeking commercial advantage or political gain.

Meanwhile "The truth is mighty and will prevail." We shall continue in the path we have blazed for ourselves. We shall succeed or fail on the record which WE ourselves will make. We shall not succeed or fail on the record that others attempt to make for us.

And the course that we have mapped out is bringing success. In five months, without the aid of a premium or a circulation contest, The Capital Times has attained a circulation of nearly 6,000. That means simply that there are thousands of people in Dane county and vicinity who stand for the same things for which The Capital Times is fighting. This following has already made The Capital Times self sustaining.

The continuation of our policy will bring further success. A newspaper that remains true to the common people MUST succeed. That will be our creed.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.
WASHINGTON, D.C.

April 17, 1918.

The Capital Times Company,
Madison, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:

In reply to your letter of April 16, 1918, stating that certain complaints instigated by business competitors and political enemies of your company to the effect that it was financed by money from pro-German sources had been made to this Department and asking that you be advised as to whether the investigation disclosed anything that would sustain such charges, I beg to advise you that no information has come into the possession of this Department which would warrant it in taking any action of any character against your company.

Respectfully,
For the Attorney General,
Special Assistant to the Attorney General.

CRUISER VINDICTIVE, FILLED WITH CONCRETE, SUNK AT ENTRANCE OF HARBOR

BORGLUM HAD AIRCRAFT PLAN, U. S. FILES SHOW

Documents Disclose Sculptor Was in Wisconsin Corporation

SILENT PARTNER

Official Papers Show He Was to Aid in Building New Airplane

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON—The floodlight of publicity turned today upon the activities of Gutzon Gorglum, the sculptor, while he was investigating the aircraft production situation as the personal agent of President Wilson.

Letters, telegrams and sworn statements placed in the hands of senators from the official files of the war department show that Borglum's own inventions failed of test and that while acting as the president's agent he carried on negotiations for the formation of an aircraft corporation in which he was to be a silent partner and which, the statements declare, was to have special advantages because of Borglum's association and friendship with the president.

Negotiations between Borglum, Hugo Gibson, connected with the British war mission in the United States, and Kenyon Mix, of the Dodge Manufacturing company of Wisconsin began last December, the documents show. A statement by Mix, included in the documents, tells how he withdrew after becoming suspicious of Borglum's activities and reported the affair to Howard Coffin, then head of the aircraft production board.

The documents, which have been supplied from the official files of the war department and are now in the hands of senators most intimately connected with the aircraft investigation, declare that Borglum continued his negotiations after President Wilson authorized him to make an inquiry into the aircraft situation.

A summary of the negotiations signed by Henry Harrison Suplee, who participated as a consulting engineer for Mix, declared Borglum was to be represented in the corporation by a Mr. Harris and that Borglum was to be represented in the corporation by a Mr. Harris and that Borglum's "sole asset in the transaction was to be first, his personal friendship and association with President Wilson, whom he stated he could do anything he wanted with."

"As a further asset," Suplee's statement declares, "Borglum gave everyone concerned in this matter to understand that his position with the aircraft production board and the aerial section of the signal corps, U. S. A., was such that he could obtain for use plans and technical details which this company could use and thus save considerably, both in time and in money in beginning operations."

The documents also declare Borglum told Mix that "through his friendship with the White House and acquaintance with Mr. Gibson, the engineer in the employ of the British ministry of munitions, he would have access to the best foreign and American designs and practices."

This statement, the documents show, was made to Mix after Borglum had shown his presidential authority as investigator and at this point the suspicions of Mix were aroused and he withdrew from the negotiations.

Suplee's statement further declares that Borglum gave him to understand that the personnel of the aircraft board was 'highly distasteful to him," and that he proposed to change it "by virtue of his friendship with President Wilson," and asked Suplee to suggest men for the places.

Operations Successfully Close Ports of Ostend and Zeebrugge

MOTOR BOAT LOST

Launch Was Sunk to Prevent It Falling Into Hands of Enemy

By the Associated Press

Great Britain's naval triumph of April 23 at Zeebrugge, when this important German submarine base was apparently blocked by the sinking of concrete-laden ships, has been virtually duplicated at Ostend, another valuable base for the U-boats just to the east. The old cruiser Vindictive, filled with concrete, was sunk last night across the entrance to Ostend harbor.

The operations begun with a view to closing these two ports, the admiralty announces, have now been "successfully completed."

The importance of the blocking operations lies in the fact that the Germans will now be forced to revert, for some time at least, to their own home ports as starting and returning points for their under-sea raiders. These craft would, therefore, have to traverse far longer, more difficult and more dangerous routes to attain their cruising grounds, with the consequent increase by many times the chances of their being turned back or destroyed.

The land fighting of last night brought success to both the British and the French. In the case of the former, the action took the form of a British counter attack upon ground the Germans took yesterday in the Albert sector, northeast of Amiens. Field Marshal Haig's troops gained a complete victory, restoring the position intact and taking some prisoners.

The French success was still more important, as it represented a net gain of ground for the allies on the Somme front. In an intensive operation, heralded by a brief but heavy bombardment, the French captured Grivesnes park, five miles north of Montdidier, and held their own there against counter measures by the Germans, taking 250 prisoners during the fighting.

The Germans had held an important section of this park, which adjoins the town of Grivesnes on the east, and is just to the north of the sector where American troops have been reported fighting in the Picardy battle.

LONDON—The German submarine base at Ostend, on the Belgian coast, has been blocked as the result of a new raid by British naval forces, the admiralty announces. The obsolete cruiser Vindictive, filled with concrete, has been sunk across the entrance to the harbor.

The British lost one motor boat. Their casualties were light.

The announcement follows:

"Operations designed to close the ports of Ostend and Zeebrugge were successfully completed last night when the obsolete cruiser Vindictive was sunk between the piers and across the entrance to Ostend harbor.

"Since the attack on Zeebrugge April 23, the Vindictive had been filled with concrete for this purpose.

"Our light forces have returned to their base with the loss of one motor launch which had been damaged and was sunk by orders of the vice admiral, to prevent it falling into the hands of the enemy.

"Our casualties were light."

Bomb Zeebrugge

AMSTERDAM—Strong allied flying squadrons bombed the mole and the village of Zeebrugge, the German submarine base on the Belgian coast, at noon and in the evening Thursday. No military damage was done, according to an official statement issued in Berlin. Two of the hostile airplanes were shot down by German airmen.

LONDON—Regarding reports that German submarines have been unable to enter Flemish ports and have had to return to Germany, Reuter's says it is unable to obtain confirmation in naval quarters.

Photographic and other evidence from Zeebrugge shows that the Bruges canal is still entirely blocked as a result of the British raid of April 23 and that it cannot be used. The obstructions, it has been found,

LONDON — The British have recaptured a small portion of a front trench northwest of Albert which the enemy gained yesterday, it is announced officially.

The statement follows:

"The small portion of our front trench northwest of Albert gained by the enemy as a result of his attack yesterday morning, was recaptured by us during the evening by a counter attack. We took a few prisoners.

"The hostile artillery was active last night in the valleys of the Somme and Ancre rivers and at different points on the Lys battle front."

PARIS — French troops yesterday captured Grivesnes Park, five miles northwest of Montdidier, the war office announces.

BERLIN, Thursday, May 9, via London — The German official statement concerning fighting near Ypres Wednesday reads:

"Between Ypres and Bailleul lively artillery activity continued throughout the day.

"Local attacks we made south of Dickebusch lake were completely successful. On the eastern bank of the Yyverbeek, Rhineland and Baden troops took by storm strongly fortified enemy positions over a width of two kilometres. Here apparently they ran into a French and British attack and dissipated its strength. The enemy's attack was only fully developed on both sides of the Renighelst-Kemmel road. It was repulsed, as were counter attacks against our newly captured positions. We took 675 prisoners belonging to six French and two British (regiments?) which suffered heavy and sanguinary losses."

LLOYD-GEORGE WINS VICTORY IN COMMONS

Withdraws Cabinet's Plan for Court of Honor to Deal With Charges

LONDON—The successful manner in which the Lloyd-George ministry in the house of commons yesterday dealt with an unpleasant incident which had caused more political bitterness than any preceding chapter of this troubled administration, was brought about by a sudden change of tactics on the part of the cabinet.

Premier Lloyd-George again showed himself a keen political strategist. He withdrew the cabinet's plan for a court of honor to deal with the charges of Major General Maurice which Andrew Bonar Law, on Tuesday, said concerned the honor of the ministers. The premier made it clear that adoption of Former Premier Asquith's motion for a select committee to investigate the matter would be regarded as a vote of censure which would be followed by the government's resignation.

The debate was brief and the premier's explanation was its dominating feature.

The cabinet rode safely over the crisis by a vote of 293 to 106.

Former Premier Asquith expressed surprise that the government would take his motion for investigation by a committee as a vote of censure and he had the house with him when he rebuked Chancellor Bonar Law for asserting that members could not be found who would give a nonpartisan judgment.

The principal point of the premier's defense was that the disputed statements had been based on information furnished by Major General Maurice's department of the war office and that Major General Maurice never had questioned them while he was in daily conference with the cabinet. He said that General Maurice had ceased to hold office "for good or bad reasons."

Personal feeling between the former prime minister and his successor, was evident and it appears to increase with each of the clashes incident to their positions as head of the government and leader of the opposition.

The status of the controversy as it now stands is virtually that the defense has been heard, but the accuser has not. Whether he ever will be is doubtful.

The case of Major General Maurice is in the hands of the army council and there seems little doubt that his distinguished military career has been ended by his own action.

GOOD TIME IS NOT RESTORED TO PRISONERS

Attorney General Haven Gives Important Ruling to Convicts

That the Board of Control has not the power to restore good time lost by a prisoner violating the rules of the prison was the opinion of Attorney General Spencer Haven today. Under the laws of the state a prisoner who strictly obeys the laws of the prison is given time off, or good time. The Board of Control asked whether this loss of good time could be restored, but the attorney general responded:

"Neither the Board nor the warden of the prison or his deputy has any power to restore to the convict any of the good time lost by not reserving the rules of discipline.

Interesting Compensation Case Put Before Industrial Board for Decision

An interesting compensation case was placed before the industrial commission today for consideration. A man at Janesville has written a letter to the committee saying that on April 4, he appealed before a local organization for a six-round boxing contest. His right hand was broken in the contest. He asks whether the organization can be held for compensation.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER RECOUNT IS STARTED

Attorney for Wets Argues to Have Temporary Injunction Set Aside

Contending that the action of M. H. Hovey, representing the dry league in the recount contest, in asking for an injunction to prevent the mayor and holdover aldermen from canvassing the ballots was not consistent with their action in asking a recount in the First and Eighth wards, City Attorney William Ryan and Attorney R. W. Jackman opened the fight to vacate the temporary injunction before Judge E. Ray Stevens in Circuit court, Friday morning.

Both City Attorney Ryan and Attorney Jackman contended that if it was right for Mr. Hovey to ask for a recount of the votes in certain wards, then it was right for A. M. Peltier to ask for a recount. Both declared that they could see no reason for Mr. Hovey asking for a recount on one hand and then turn about and ask for an injunction to prevent the mayor and holdover aldermen from canvassing the ballots.

The city attorney in his arguments for vacating the temporary injunction claimed that the mayor and the holdover aldermen shall not be restrained from canvassing the ballots until some one else has shown that he is entitled to the office. Should the dry league succeed in preventing the mayor and holdover aldermen from canvassing the ballots, he contended, then any citizen can appear in court and restrain even the fire chief or the chief of police from performing the duties of his office.

It was contended that Mr. Hovey had not suffered any injury other than that suffered by any other citizen and before he is entitled to secure an injunction to prevent the recount, he would have to show that he had suffered individual injury.

Attorney Jackman in opening his arguments introduced two affidavits sent to the common council at the last meeting: one from a former city official and one from the present city clerk, in which they deposed that since 1852 the mayor and the holdover aldermen had composed the canvassing board and that the question as to their right so to do had never been questioned. The arguments on the motion were resumed at 2 o'clock.

NO COMMENT BY PHILIPP ON ASHLAND BEE

If Anything is Doing Executive is Keeping Plans to Himself

If there was anything doing on the Ashland tar episode today at the executive office, Gov. Philipp did not allow it to be known. Attorney General Haven and all of his staff were in their office this morning and comment was refused on the Ashland affair.

It was stated that an examination of the laws showed that troops could not be sent to Ashland unless it was clearly shown that all local power had failed. It is probably that officials of Ashland may be called upon for a report before any further action is taken by the executive.

WAR REVENUE REVISION PLAN IS OPPOSED

Democrats and Republicans Insist on Deferring Action Now

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary McAdoo's plans for immediate legislation by congress to increase war revenues met today with immediate and formidable opposition.

After a conference today between Representative Kitchin, majority leader of the house and chairman of the ways and means committee, and Chairman Simmons and other members of the senate finance committee, it was stated that revenue revision before next December is "very doubtful."

Both democrats and republicans, it was said, are prepared to insist upon the administration's original program of deferring tax revision until the December session.

Unless Secretary McAdoo conclusively demonstrates that immediate action is imperatively necessary, leaders of both branches of congress are prepared to insist upon postponement.

"If there is a bill," Representative Kitchin said, after his conference with senators today, "the taxes on excess profits and incomes will be raised so high that there will be little or no profiteering left in the hands of those who are now getting rich off the war."

Doubt was expressed by Mr. Kitchin that the huge war appropriations made the basis for Secretary McAdoo's opinion regarding immediate legislation, would have any effect on the treasury. He believes that actual drafts under the appropriations could not begin before next January.

CHORAL UNION IN SPRING CONCERT

The Choral union will give as its spring concert a patriotic program which will be presented as a special number of the war course, Thursday evening, May 16, at 8:15 o'clock. Music hall has been chosen because it offers the best advantages for the singing of the chorus.

The theme of the program is "Warring for Democracy" and the presentation of the numbers will make logical, vivid and inspiring interpretations of the great war. It opens with the insolent "Challenge of Thor," representing Germany's challenge to the world, and closes with the mighty "Hallelujam Chorus."

THE END OF THE WAR

THE end of the war must be the end of Prussian military dominance. The free nations of the earth must unite and fight until the sinister bloody hand of military autocracy threatens the world's peace no more. It was to escape this ruthless junker rule that the principal German immigration to this country came about. It is to maintain their rights as free men in a free nation that the American Germans today are freely sacrificing their best blood and their full meed of treasure in our battles against the German Kaiser and his criminal creed of government of "blood and iron." It is to hold fast to our ideals of liberty for the free peoples of the world that today our nation is making war its business, and its religion. It is to end the awful fear we hold in our hearts of the curse of Europe—the Kaiser and the Prussian dynasty—that our sons go into battle. AMERICA WILL HOLD FAST.

Today our president sends word to struggling France, to bleeding Belgium, to those stubborn fighting sons of England, "Hold the fort! for I am coming!" Looking out over the expanse of waters our allies on the red battlefields of France take heart for there they see that Americans ARE coming—coming in a mighty, unceasing, unending throng, until the death-knell of Prussian brute force is sounded.

Now is the time, as we look into the seemingly bottomless hell-pit of Prussian horror, to take new courage and resolution.

Even as the Prussian Kaiser's right hand is palsied by the sins of his fathers, so will his left hand, his evil tongue and mad brain be palsied by the oncoming flood of righteous wrath of a unified free-men against his sinister power and influence. Austria is fomenting with rebellion. The bloody Turk is being gradually pushed back. The German youth is being fed into the maws of death faster and faster. The end is not in sight. Dark days are before us, but dawn follows darkness and our faith in the right impels us to believe that the dawn of a brighter day is at hand. And in that faith we will go on and on until the mastery of righteousness is enthroned over the forces of evil.

EYES ON MINNESOTA

NEXT month the eyes of the political world will be turned on Minnesota. On June 18th the primaries will be held following one of the most bitter political battles of the state.

On one side are arrayed the farmers and laborers.—the producers; on the other are arrayed the profiteers, the big interests, the newspapers and the state public safety commission.

The big interests have tried to work the same game in Minnesota that they have worked all over. Those who are against Big Business these days are either disloyal or pro-German. The farmers' organization, the Nonpartisan league, the foe of the steel trust and the exploiters in the northwest has been the particular target of the interests. With 50,000 members in Minnesota already and with 3,000 joining weekly the big interests have become desperate.

The Minnesota Public Safety commission is in the hands of ultra-reactionaries. They have used all the power in their possession to discredit the league. J. F. McGee, member of the commission, recently went to Washington and endeavored to interest the administration in a court martial bill which would practically place Minnesota under military rule. He was promptly squelched by President Wilson who wrote to the chairman of the senate judiciary committee as follows:

I am heartily obliged to you for consulting me about the court martial bill, as perhaps I may call it for short. I am wholly and unalterably opposed to such legislation and very much value the opportunity you give me to say so. I think it is not only unconstitutional, but that in character it would put us nearly on the level of the very people we are fighting and effecting to despise. It would be altogether inconsistent with the spirit and practice of America, and in view of the recent legislation, the espionage bill, the sabotage bill and the woman spy bill, I think it is unnecessary and uncalled for. I take the liberty, my dear senator, of expressing myself in this emphatic way because my feeling is very deep about the matter, as I gather your own is.

The big interests have overplayed the game in Minnesota. Their attempt to use loyalty and patriotism to hide their public depredations is being hared by the league.

The junkers of this country may well fear this movement. And it is because they fear it that the campaign against the farmers and laborers in Minnesota has been so bitter.

DINNER STORIES

An official who was making up an assessment roll because of some recent street improvements called at each house on the improved streets to learn the names of the property owners. At one house he climbed out of his car, went to the door and knocked.

"Who owns this property?" he asked.

"Why, I do," the woman answered.

The official got her name and put it down in his book. Then he took a squint at the size of the lot.

"How many feet?" he asked.

"Two, of course," the woman snapped, wondering whether he thought she was a centipede.

The lank, long-haired young man looked dreamily at the charming girl on whom he was endeavoring to make a favorable impression.

"Did you ever long for death?" he asked in a low and moving tone.

"Whose?" inquired the charming but practical young person.

"Really, you should feed your hounds more, Brother Johnson," mildly chided the presiding elder. "They look half starved."

"Aw, them dogs is nacherly lank," replied Mr. Gap Johnson, of Pumpus Ridge, Ark. "I don't consider 'em hungry till they begin to bite the children."

"This war could be terminated very suddenly if I could get just two men in front of me," said the amateur strategist.

"What two men?" inquired his companion.

"The kaiser and that fellow they call Hun," was the reply.

"When I hear the popular songs whistled on the street wherever I go, I'm so thankful to the whistlers."

"Thankful?"

"Yes; suppose they could whistle the words?"

Professor Graves was a member of a college faculty who had the not uncommon scholastic failing of absent mindedness. One day, it appears, his married sister favored him for a long time with loud praises of her first born. When she paused for breath at the end of her recital the professor felt that it was incumbent upon him to say something.

"Can he walk?" he asked, with affected interest.

"Walk? Why, he's been walking now for five months!"

"Is that so?" murmured the professor, lapsing into reflection. "What a long way he must have gone."

A senator was talking about war prices.

"Like begets like," he said. "One war price creates another. That is why all prices, without exception, must be kept down.

"A farmer the other day took a plowshare to the blacksmith's to be sharpened, and while the blacksmith worked the farmer chuckled and bragged about a sale of hogs he had just made.

"'Them hogs was only eight months old,' he said, 'and none too fat, mother; but I seen that the buyer was at his w its' end, and by skillful jugglin' I boosted up the price on him just 300 per cent. Yes, by gum, I got three times more for them hogs than I uster get before the war.'

"The plowshare being done, the farmer handed the smith 50 cents.

"'Old on,' said the smith, 'I charge $1.50 for that job now.'

"'You scandalous rascal!' yelled the farmer. 'What do you mean by treblin' your price on me? What have you done it for?'

"'I've done it,' said the blacksmith, 'so's I'll be able to eat some of that high-priced pork of yours this winter.'"

MEMORABLE DAYS IN HISTORY
(According to Little Bobby.)

From Life.

The day he discovered the fire in the lumber yards and turned in the alarm.

The day he sat on the seat next to the driver and was allowed to exercise the fire horses for a whole block.

The day Uncle Alfred treated him to a box seat at the ball game.

The day he made a home run—the ball he hit having landed on the nose of a policeman.

The day he was introduced to a beautiful little girl from Belgium, and went right up and kissed her.

The day the minister and his wife who were invited to dinner didn't come—and he was told to eat their dessert.

The day he found a $5 gold piece while shoveling the snow.

The day he explained to company that his parents were inclined to quarrel at times.

The day he took first prize at school for selling Liberty Bonds.

The day Aunt Prudence caught him hitching onto a brewery truck.

The day he tried out his father's corncob.

MILWAUKEE

From Collier's Weekly.

On the morrow of the Wisconsin election in which Anti-war Barger polled about 100,000 votes and carried the city of Milwaukee, there came from that puzzling sector a vindication of Milwaukee's loyalty. Some one in the town now famous in more ways than one rose to point out that Milwaukee had oversubscribed its Liberty Loan allotments, that one out of every fifteen of our soldiers in France was a Wisconsin boy, and that the state had been free from strikes, riots, and other disturbances militating against the efficient conduct of the war. The argument has force. If there is such a thing as constructive disloyalty, shown in acts and not words, there is apparently, too, a constructive loyalty as shown, not in words, but in acts. Wisconsin would therefore be claiming the privilege of the small boy under parental duress. He will knock off marbles and go on errands to the grocery store, but he reserves the right to make faces.

Disconcerting though it may be to find Americans here and there carrying on with a grouch instead of a smile, let us set it down to the imperfections of human nature—and politics—and be content, for the time being, with the loyalty of the overt act. We had the same state of mind in New York City after the election of Hylan. The forces of outspoken disloyalty of the Hillquit type and of the reticent loyalty of many of the Hylan supporters had won an overwhelming victory. What would happen to the war in New York City? Nervous editorial writers went so far as to call for the assumption of police authority by the federal government in our principal port. There rose a vision of draft riotss, munition-factory explosions, and scuttled transports in the harbor.

What happened we all know. The drafts have gone forth cheerfully from New York to Upton and have come back to parade through shouting crowds. The Liberty loans have been over-and-over subscribed. There have been no ominous fires on the water front and no mysterious cuttlings in the harbor. From New York, under the eyes of millions, the transports and the food ships and the munition ships have been pouring out for the ultimate victory of America and her allies. New York, having made a face last November, is going efficiently about her errands.

And in the long run this useful and loyal activity is bound to wipe the grouch from the face and the heart of the small boy.

OF WHAT VALUE IS GIBRALTER

H. G. Wells in the New Republic.

As an illustration of the way in which changing conditions are altering political questions, let the reader take his atlas and consider the case of that impregnable fastness, that great naval station, that key to the Mediterranean, Gibraltar.

British boys are brought up on Gibraltar and the Gibraltar idea. To the British imagination Gibraltar is almost as sacred a national symbol as the lions in Trafalgar Square. Now in his atlas the reader will almost certainly find an inset map of this valuable possession, colored bright red. The inset map will have attached to it a small scale of miles. From that he will be able to satisfy himself that there is not an inch of the rock anywhere that is not within five miles or less of Spanish land, and that there is rather more than a semi-circle of hills round the rock within a range of seven or eight miles. That is much less than the range of a 16-inch gun.

In other words the Spaniards are in a position to knock Gibralter to bits whenever they want to do so, or to smash and sink any ships in its harbor. They can hit it on every side. Consider moreover, that there are long sweeps of coast north, south and west of the rock, from which torpedoes could be discharged at any ship that approached. Inquire further where on the rock an airplane can land. And having ascertained these things, ask youdself what is the present value of Gibraltar?

WINTER STARS.

I went out at night alone:
The young blood flowing beyond the sea
Seemed to have drenched my spirit's wings—
I bore my sorrow bitterly.

But when I lifted up my head
From shadows shaken on the snow
I saw Orion in the east
Burn steadily as long ago.

From windows in my father's house,
Dreaming my dreams on winter nights,
I watched Orion as a girl
Above another city's lights. * * *

Years go, dreams go, and youth goes too;
The world's heart breaks beneath its wars—
All things are changed save in the east
The faithful beauty of the stars.

The State Press

TIRED OF POLITICIANS.

The farmers of Wisconsin are tired of the politicians and their management of the state affairs. At a convention in Madison they nominated candidates for the various state offices. We do not hesitate to say that a cleaner lot of men were never put in nomination for state offices in Wisconsin, and unless we mistake the signs of the times the two old parties will have to get busy or they will be outdistanced in the race. —Chippewa Falls Independent.

VALUE OF GOOD ROADS.

It is frequently complained that when there are so many apples or cherries on the farms that it doesn't pay the farmer to pick them. Apples and cherries command such high prices in the city that most folks cannot afford to buy them—and something the same with potatoes or other farm vegetable products. Obviously with good roads, such as Outagamie is going to begin having this summer and with many city people provided with automobiles, it ought to be possible to bring about lively and pleasant relations between farmers and autoists provided transactions are made mutually profitable.—Appleton Post.

WHO WORKS?

A statement attributed some time ago to Charles M. Schwab has attracted a good deal of attention. "The time is coming," it ran, "when men of the working class, men without property, will control the destinies of this world of ours. . . We must look to the worker for a solution of the economic conditions now being considered. I am not one carelessly to turn over my belongings to the uplift of the nation; but I have come to a belief that the worker will rule, and the sooner we realize this the better it will be for our country and the world at large."

Nobody worth mentioning in the United States would disagree with the statement "The worker will rule," or "The man who works will control the destinies of the world." But Mr. Schwab evidently did not mean that. He had in mind that invidious convention by which "worker" is commonly taken to mean an industrial wage-earner—usually an organized wage-earner. Members of labor unions are usually spoken of as constituting the "labor" of the nation—often with an implication that the remaining nine-tenths of the population is merely loafing.

Many more than ninety per cent of the males who voted at the last presidential election earned their living by labor and were virtually dependent upon their labor for a living. They rule now. Of course they will continue to rule. If there is any sign of a new orientation and alignment on the part of a majority of them—or even a very considerable minority—indicating an intention to rule on some wholly different plan we have not been able to detect it.

The paramount economic interest of nine-tenths of the population of the United States is a labor interest. To nine families out of ten the return from labor of hand or brain is more important than the return from capital. Why labor in the invidious conventional sense of industrial wage labor should have the monopoly of ruling is not clear.—The Saturday Evening Post.

News Notes

American artillery fired sixty thousand shells into the German trenches before a recent attack, completely blotting them out, it is announced.

Expenditures for heavy ordnance provided in the fortifications bill now before the house appropriations committee, are expected to total near seven billions.

The army program for the next year of the war calls for expenditures of $23,278,202,801, for light ordnance, General March, acting chief of staff told the house military committee.

It was pointed out clearly at Washington that our government's attitude is neutral as between Russian factions and that there is no desire to do other than help Russia at this critical time.

Appropriations for 220,000 machine guns for use in airplanes is asked. In addition $1,000,000,000 will be expended for incendiary bombs, indicating that the activities of the American aviators, although delayed, may be a potent force within a year.

"Silent agitators" are government witnesses against 112 I. W. W. on trial in federal court at Chicago. Stickerettes designed for pasting in public places where there were new members to be gained or I. W. W. deeds to be done are exhibited in the big sedition hearing.

The senate postoffice committee refused to consider legislation to suspend or modify increased second class postage rates which become effective July 1 and which newspaper publishers have attacked in connection with the pending postoffice appropriation bill. Individual senators plan an effort later on to suspend or reduce the increases.

The situation for the allies on the western front has improved considerably since the failure of the German drive on April 29, in the opinion of the British military mission here. Since the first news of the present battle, runs a statement by the mission, the German casualties have increased in proportion to the decrease on the allied side.

ROSALIE.

O pour upon my sould again
That sad unearthly strain
That seems from other world to plain!
Thus falling, falling from afar,
As if some melancholy star
Had mingled with her light her sighs,
And dropped them from the skies.

No, never came from aught below
This melody of woe,
That makes my heart to overflow,
As from a thousand gushing springs
Unknown before; that with it brings
This nameless light—if light it be—
That veils the world I see.

For all I see around me wears
The hue of other spheres;
And something blent of smiles and tears
Comes from the very air I breathe.
O, nothing, sure, the stars beneath,
Can mold a sadness like to this—
So like angelic bliss!

So, at that dreamy hour of day,
When the last lingering ray
Stops on the highest cloud to play—
So thought the gentle Rosalie
As on her maiden revery
First fell the strain of him who stole
In music to her soul.

SOCIALISTS DO NOT LIKE CONFERENCE

Recent Meeting of the Farmers Not Taken to Kindly in Milwaukee

That the socialists of the state do not take kindly to the plans of the recent farmers' conference here is evident from an article appearing in The Milwaukee Leader. The article is written by Senator Louis A. Arnold, leader of the socialists in the state legislature. The article in part is as follows:

Personal ambition and desire for office on the part of a few men is what prompted the call of a state conference of the members of the Equity society in Madison, May 1. In this conference members of the Nonpartisan league, grangers, and some trades union men took part.

J. N. Tittemore, Omro, a former railroad man and now a little lawyer in Madison and president of the Equity society was the moving spirit. His ambition is to become governor of Wisconsin, and he is willing to use any political party to satisfy this ambition. He used his office as president of the Equity society to call together 600 earnest, sincere and well meaning farmers, who desire to find relief from conditions imposed upon them by the trusts, war profiteers and railroads.

These farmers know that something is wrong with our economic system. They, however, are still ignorant of the fact that a political party is already in the field which has advocated for the past twenty years everything the farmers now ask for. This party is the Socialist party, whose candidate for United States senator, Victor L. Berger, polled over 110,000 votes April 2.

The Socialist party, with a little more aid coming from the dissatisfied farmers, can carry the state of Wisconsin for its candidate for governor and elect a majority of the legislature next fall. This will insure the farmers the relief asked for.

LET ERIN REMEMBER THE DAYS OF OLD

Let Erin remember the days of old
Ere her faithless sons betray her;
When Malachi wore the collar of gold
Which he won from her proud invader;
When her kings with standard of green unfurled
Led the Red Branch Knights to danger.
Ere the emerald gem of the Western World
Was set in the crown of a stranger.

On Lough Neagh's bank as the fisherman strays,
When the clear cold eve's declining,
He sees the round tower of other days
In the wave beneath him shining!
Thus shall mémory often, in dreams sublime,
Catch a glimpse of the days that are over,
Thus, sighing, look through the waves of time
For the long-faded glories they cover!

RAIN IN THE NIGHT.

When I awake and down the night
I hear the thunder roll.
And when I hear the rain come down
—at first in laggard dole,
Then in a torrent on the roof, and plunging from the eaves
Like cataracts—I think of trees which waited with their leaves
Till gushing rain out of the skies should tell them it was spring,
And I think of the morning—sweet
beyond imagining—
And I think of white clover blooms
and blossom bowered ways,
And a whole summertime made up of morning glory days.

When it is raining in the night, a tender springtime rain
Which lifts the streams out of their beds and blossom down the lane;
And like hoofbeats across a bridge, I hear the thunder roll.
A saturating happiness wakes blossoms in my soul;
And I reach out and pull the quilts
about my snuggling form,
And listen to the rolling of the thunder and the storm
With soft insistent fingers tapping for me on the pane,
And I lie there and smile and let it rain, and rain and rain.

Miss Mayhew has been an honorary member of Pythia ever since she helped organize the society about fifteen years ago. When asked whether her enthusiasm for the work of literary societies has led her to organize literary societies among the women and girls in China she replied:

"The women of China cannot speak English and so it is impossible to organize a literary society, for we would want them to study English and American literature."

All honorary members of Pythia who are in Madison are invited by the society to come to the meeting tonight. Agnes C. Skelton will sing a vocal solo, and Elsa Kremers will give a piano solo.

MARQUETTE SCHOOL AIDS RED CROSS

Pupils Spend Spare Time in Making Comforts for Soldiers

Layettes, bandages, knitted articles, and needles have been turned in by the enthusiastic Red Cross workers of the Marquette school. Ever since Red Cross work was established in the schools the pupils have spent a great share of their time at helping to make things which are necessary for the boys "over there."

"I would rather stay after school and do Red Cross work than jump rope or play ball," said one young miss who showed the attitude of the whole school.

The boys in Marquette school have been spending a great deal of time which they had heretofore spent in playing ball and teasing the girls, in making bamboo needles. These needles the boys are going to sell for thirty-five cents. This money will go for defraying the expenses of the material and for the Red Cross fund.

GERMAN INDUSTRIES ARE CRIPPLED

Socialist in Reichstag Says Four-fifths of Textile Plants Are Paralyzed

(By the Associated Press)

AMSTERDAM—Herr Kraetzig, a socialist member of the reichstag, asserted in Wednesday's debate on the appropriations for the imperial economics demand that four-fifths of the textile industries of Germany were completely paralyzed and that the position of the idle textile workers was rapidly growing desperate. He demanded that adequate provision be made for them so as to keep skilled textile workers in readiness for resumption of the industries after the war.

Herr Kraetzig also complained that attempts were being made by a small group of capitalists with the knowledge of the government, to monopolize the cellulose industry which promised to be highly important in the future.

3 Things

Testing eyes — adjusting glasses and grinding lenses—are three very important things to be considered when you consult an Optometrist. Either one is absolutely dependent upon the other.

If the lenses are fitted correctly—but do not set accurately in front of the eyes—discomfort will follow the wearing of such glasses.

If the examination and the prescription for the lenses has been perfect—but the grinding of the lenses is not absolutely correct—the wearer will not get comfort.

The most difficult thing in Optometry is, of course, the examination of the eyes to determine if any strain exists and if so how much strain. There is as great a difference in the eye examination by one Optometrist and another as between a young physician without experience and training and the mature, skilled surgeon.

The progressive Optometrist is giving his customers the benefit of his advanced studies and newest appliances. Many Optometrists are satisfied with just enough knowledge of their work to "get them by"—and "get the money." Beyond that they have no interest.

The progressive Optometrist is anxious to improve himself and thereby build for himself a reputation as a skilled Optometrist to whom the public may safely intrust their priceless eyesight.

Highly skilled Optometry work does not necessarily mean high prices, for the public eventually find out that incompetent and "so-called cut-rate service" really costs most.

Investigate carefully the ability of the Optometrist to whom you intrust your eyes.

CUT XMAS RECESS; ADD TO VACATION

As an emergency war measure, Christmas recess will be shortened 10 days at the University of Wisconsin next year, and the week's time saved will be added to the summer vacation to give faculty and students more time for special war work during the summer. This action has just been taken by the faculty on the suggestion of their war committee.

The summer vacation has thus been extended from June 19, commencement day, one week earlier than usual, to September 30, one week later.

(By the Associated Press)

MOSCOW (Tuesday, May 7)—Germany has informed Foreign Minister Tchitcherin that owing to the change in the Ukrainian government, the peace delegation which had been appointed to conduct negotiations with Russian representatives at Kursk must now be entirely reconstituted. It is added that Germany wished the peace pourpalers between Russia and the Ukraine to be held at Kiev.

GERMANS WILL NOT ADVANCE ON RUSS

AMSTERDAM—No Germans are participating or will participate in the advance by Finnish troops on Petrograd, according to the Vorwaerts. This announcement was made before the main committee of the reichstag on Wednesday by General von Krisberg.

NEW YORK — The new Liberty bonds, the third issue, bearing 4¼ per cent interest and listed for the first time on the stock exchange today, sold at almost a point below par at the opening. Within the first twenty minutes of trading two blocks of the bonds, one of $307,000 par value and the other of $100,000 were sold at 99.10.

Large offerings of bonds of the third Liberty loan at the end of the first hour sent the selling price down 1.20 points below par. A block of $100,000 sold at 99 and a few minutes later another of $670,000 went at 98.80.

MADISON TO GET NEXT MUSIC MEET

OSHKOSH—The Wisconsin Music Teachers' association at its closing meeting has decided to have the meeting next year at Madison. One of the addresses, German Music vs. Alien Enemy Artists, by Dean Frederick Van Evans, of the Conservatory of Music at Lawrence college, Appleton, was strongly opposed to Americans patronizing alien enemy musicians who show pro-German tendencies or refuse to clear themselves of suspicion. He said the standard music of old German was all right.

Officials of Control Body on Inspection Tour in North Wisconsin

COST IS $210,000

No Decision Will be Made Until Some Time Next Month

Three members of the state board of control are in northern Wisconsin inspecting lands for the founding of a tuberculosis hospital. The last session of the legislature made an appropriation of $210,000 for the location of such a hospital. Senator Baxter of Superior has been in Madison, within the past 10 days to urge the erection of the building just as soon as possible.

Members of the board of control who are inspecting land in the northern part of Wisconsin are: former Governor James O. Davidson, George Harris, Waukesha; E. A. Everat, Eagle River.

Upwards of twenty cites have been offered to the committee by people in Douglas, Ashland and Bayfield counties. The final decision of the members of the board of control will not be announced until some time after the next regular meeting of the board here.

WAR CERTIFICATES FOR BADGER ALUMNI

The University of Wisconsin faculty has voted to issue a "war certificate" to each alumnus or former student who has entered military service in the great war.

It has already provided for graduating, with a "war diploma," to all seniors who enlist, and for giving "war certificates" to students below the rank of senior.

The official honor roll, which is being built up to record the students and alumni who have gone to war, now includes nearly 2,000 names but as yet is mainly composed of names of students enrolled since September, 1916, and has secured but a small proportion of alumni soldiers.

AT THE THEATRES

ORPHEUM

An all star bill at the Orpheum is headed by Arthur Deagon, veteran of vaudeville, who got more applause with his New Year eve "celebration" act than any other part of the bill. The part of the intoxicated man was portrayed true to life, judging from the appreciation of the audience. In songs and stories and hand somersaults Deagon was equally the master of the act.

"In the Days of Long Ago," bringing back the sons and costumes of yore, the quaintness of the old fashioned times was charmingly presented. The mixed quartette with medlies of old southern songs, the old plantation setting and costumes, and dancing, the act made one wonder if all the charm of those times had been lost.

Adonis and his dog put on one of the most skillful hand balancing acts shown here for some time. Absolute muscular control and strength were shown by Adonis and the trained dog put human interest in the act.

The Johdon girls were really maids of variety, with their singing, dancing, and tight rope work. They proved themselves as much at home on the rope as on solid earth and stopped at nothing, even Hawaiian dancing.

Wheeler and Potter, in spite of the fact that they lost their act between here and Peoria and had to put on an impromptu bill in street clothes, made good with songs and dancing, and promise a good "Phonie Episode" stunt when their act arrives.

The pictures of world events showed scenes of our soldiers and sailors.

MAJESTIC

"Society for sale," starring William Desmond is at the Majestic today. How much should a newly rich young lady pay a gentleman of society to open the gates to the exclusive circles for her? We Americons would say "not a cent." Of course there are some few that have been known to spend large amounts to break into the Four Hundred or into the exclusive Newport circles. English society, however, has had a unique experience with a social climber who attempted to buy her way into society by trading on the name of a scion of Britain's exclusive society. The young lady was a manikin in a fasion shop, a sudden inheritance fus left her. Eager to shine in society she cast about for means of entering the circle. This fast moving play proceeds from this point with uproarious complications.

Madame Hammer

Madame Borgny Hammer, famous Norwegian actress, will appear at the Fuller theater Tuesday evening, May 14, in "The Master builder." She is being brought to Madison under the auspices of Edwin Booth and Red Domino, dramatic societies of the university, and the English department.

GRAND

Baccarat, the great French gambling game, is shown for the first time in an American motion picture in "Social Hypocrites," a Metro All-Star Series picture starring delightful May Allison, which will be shown at the Grand theater on Friday. This picture is a screen version of Alicia Ramsey's stage play, "Bridge."

As no baccarat table could be secured in America, the Metro technical staff built an exact duplicate of the kind used in the big Casinos at Monte Carlo and other gambling palaces. The table was twelve feet, six inches long and forty-four inches wide and marked off in accordance with the rules of the game. All the accoutrements of the table were provided.

The local concert is under the auspices of the University Menorah society, and has been arranged by Milton Moses, President, Ben L. Ellman, Prof. Arnold Dresden, Mrs Joseph Jastrow, Ethel Levitan, and James E. Greenberg. The entire tour of Miss Gutman has been made possible by the Intercollegiate Menorah association. The concert will be held in Music Hall, at 8 p. m., and is open to the public.

FIGHT TO REDUCE WAITING TIME

OLYMPIA, Wash.—A fight to abolish the seven-day waiting period required of injured workmen before they can receive compensation from the state accident fund will be made before the next legislature by organized labor. Under this law injured workmen receive no payments from the state if their injuries are healed sufficiently to permit them to return to work within eight days after the accident.

"This was intended to stop fakers from stealing small sums of money from the accident fund, but it has not worked out that way," said H. L. Hughes, of the state industrial insurance department.

"On paper it is figured that the waiting period has saved the employers $90,000, but I don't believe it. There is a great danger in infection in minor hurts and wounds. Many of our serious cases were due to such infection. Workmen will not take the trouble to have their hurts properly treated when they receive no compensation, especially where the wounds are small. This often leads to other accidents. The waiting period is wrong in principle, and does not work out."

U. S. HAS WIDE POWER UNDER SABOTAGE ACT

Not Necessary to Show That War Work is Hampered

WASHINGTON — The department of justice has analyzed the recently-enacted sabotage act and announces that "the fact that the act of injury or destruction, therefore was not committed to benefit the enemy or for the purpose of hampering the prosecution of the war, will furnish no excuse in a prosecution under the act."

The department states that "it is sufficient to prove that he had reason to believe that his act might injure, interfere with or obstruct the United States or one of the allies in preparing for or carrying on the war."

This decision means that where a person commits any act that would come under the general term of "sabotage" such person will be prosecuted because every one has reason to believe that such act will retard the war.

As the entire resources of the nation are at the command of the government, the department gives notice that the act has sweeping application. It says:

"In short, practically speaking, the whole industrial and agricultural resources of the United States, all of its transportation and shipping facilities, all of its public utilities and all parts thereof and all products of industry and agriculture and all parts therof suitable for war use fall within the protection of this act.

"For the first time the United States through its department of justice, is by this act furnished with an effective weapon against all willful acts of destruction or injury which directly or indirectly weaken or retard the preparations for the war or the actual conduct of the war."

A violator of this act can be im- $10,000.

LABOR CANDIDATE WINS OVER SOCIALIST

Larry C. Hodgson Elected Mayor of St. Paul; Backed by Unions

ST. PAUL—Larry C. Hodgson endorsed by union labor and considered a Radical was elected mayor of St. Paul over J. F. Emme, Socialist. Hodgson got 21,277 votes compared with 10,239 for Emme. Union labor put two councilmen in the council, two of their candidates being defeated. Emme's vote was the largest ever polled by a Socialist in St. Paul. Emme got 6,996 votes at the primary. Hodgson's vote, however, is the largest ever given any mayoralty candidate in St. Paul. Hodgson started his public career by writing lyrics for the newspapers. He became popular under the pen name of "Larry Ho." For two years he has been secretary to Mayor Ervin.

MINERS RAISE WAGES.

WASHINGTON — Alabama coal miners have raised their day wage scale 75 cents, as a result of a conference in this city with representatives of the fuel administration and their employers. Five cents a ton advance was secured for pick miners and 4 cents a ton to loaders of machine-mined coal. These gains are the result of a successful organizing campaign started last June. Alabama was supposed to be an anti-union bulwark.

FIRST UNION LOGGING CAMP

EUREKA, Cal. — Timber Workers' union No. 12 has signed an agreement with the Thompson & Merrill Logging company. This is the first union logging camp in Humboldt county.

I. W. W.'S FINANCED BY COPPER MANAGERS?

PHOENIX, Ariz.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Arizona state council of defense, attended by Arizona mine managers, a trade unionist dared the copper companies to favor a government investigation of the charge that they had paid the expenses of I. W. W.'s.

The challenge was not accepted.

The mine managers denied that they were responsible for industrial unrest and reduced copper production in Arizona.

Charges and counter charges were made when H. S. McCluskey organizer of the International union of Mine, Mill and Smelter workers, hurled this defi at Charles E. Mills, general manager of the Inspiration Consolidated Copper company:

"I challenge you as a member of the executive committee of the state council of defense to make a motion asking for an impartial board, appointed by the Taft-Walsh commission, to investigate the labor situation in Arizona and the charge that your company has paid the fare of I. W. W.'s into Arizona.

"Will you make that motion?" asked McCluskey.

The mine manager's reply was an emphatic "No."

LABOR NOT SCARCE, U. S. REPORT SHOWS

WASHINGTON — The weekly employment survey of the United States employment service indicates that while the building trade situation has shown some improvement, great numbers of house carpenters and other workers in the building trades still unemployed make the situation serious. The latest survey shows that 33 cities have a surplus in building trades while normal conditions prevail in 34 and a shortage in 4. During the previous week, 37 cities had a surplus, while 20 reported an exact balance of supply and demand, and 8 cities had a shortage.

A slightly better equalization of supply and demand in the divisions of mechanics and skilled trades is shown. Twenty-eight cities report shortage of mechanics, 9 a surplus, and 32 normal conditions. A shortage of workers in skilled trades is indicated in 36 cities, while 4 have a surplus and 33 normal conditions.

Little change appears in the common labor and farm labor situations. As against 38 cities needing more common labor, 8 report a surplus and 21 an even supply and demand. Farm labor is being sought in greater numbers by 31 cities, while 10 others have a surplus of workers and 32 normal conditions.

Four cities show a surplus of women labor, as against only one the preceding week. Forty-five cities, however, want more women, chiefly for domestic work, and 11 report normal conditions.

QUEENSLAND LABOR WINS.

BRISBANE, Queensland, Australia—The labor party of this Australian state has been returned to power after a campaign that attracted the attention of the entire commonwealth. At the beginning of the war the Labor party controlled all of the Australian states except Victoria. Since then every state has been lost except Queensland. An element in this situation is the capitalization of the war by anti-union employers. In the recent election Queensland workers broke all records, for never before has an Australian government, after serving three full years, been returned with anything like the numbers that it previously held.

BOSTON—As a result of conferences with employers, white goods and overall workers affiliated with the United Garment Workers, have raised wages 10 per cent. These workers appreciate the force that made this gain possible and have raised their union dues.

METAL WORKERS UNITE.

HANNIBAL, Mo.—Sheet metal workers employed in Hannibal railroad shops have organized.

STRIKES ARE BELOW NORMAL RECORDS SHOW

Secretary Wilson Nails Claims of Noisy Publicity Seekers

PHILADELPHIA—Secretary of Labor Wilson has arrayed facts against the noisy claims of publicity seekers who insist that the nation is seething with strikes.

In an address before the American academy of political and social science, the cabinet official said that "we have fewer labor strikes at the present time than at any other period within my recollection, notwithstanding the fact that it is the period of year when strikes are usually most numerous.

"There is not a solitary strike in the coal industry, the packing house industry, in the oil industry, the lumbering industry, the shipbuilding industry, in the steel production, transportation, telegraph or telephone systems of the country, and only a few strikes of minor importance in the extile industry, metal trades, munitions factories and all other production enterprises.

"To summarize, the highest efficiency can only be obtained by the proper treatment of the workmen, the proper planning and management of the work to be done, the intelligent mobilizing of the workmen, efficient means of training the partly skilled and unskilled in the work they are to do, complete provisions for sanitation and safety, comfortable homes, a working day sufficiently short to enable the worker to return to his work on each succeeding day fairly refreshed for the task he has to perform. And more important than all of those is the spirit of cooperation of the man who believes he is being justly dealt with."

Secretary Wilson said the worst handicap to labor efficiency now is the heavy turnover in industry caused by men becoming easily dissatisfied with jobs and moving from place to place. Poor housing accomodations he said are at the bottom of much of this dissatisfaction.

BAKERY DRIVERS GAIN.

SAN FRANCISCO—Wages have been increased $3.75 a week by the Bakery Wagon Drivers' union. The new rate is $28.75 a week. The work day is reduced from nine to eight hours with an additional holiday with pay, making seven holidays a year. Overtime rates have been increased from 65 cents to $1 an hour.

FAKE "UNION" EXPOSED

NEW YORK—In its endeavor to secure increased fares, the Interborough Traction company ordered the officers of its company-controlled "union" to appear before the city authorities and ask that fares be increased so that wages may be raised.

The "unionists" were told:

"If you think organized labor is in favor of a 6-cent fare, why not ask organized labor to petition the board of estimates for this fare increase?"

President Shonts of the Interborough smashed the Street Car men's union recently. Now Mr. Shonts has a "union" of his own, and has written a pamphlet on the necessity for unity between employer and employed.

DRIVERS ADVANCE

ROCK ISLAND—A strike of organized teamsters that ffected Rock Island and vicinity has been adjusted. Wages are increased and working conditions improved.

GARMENT WORKERS GAIN.

CHARLESTON, S. C. — Garment Workers' union No. 197 has secured substantial wage increases which benefit 500 employes. A large number of other workers will also be affected.

BIRMINGHAM Ala. — The home of M. V. Hale was dynamited after he had refused to cease his labors as an A. F. of L. organizer. Hale's home is near the city and his wife and child who were alone at the time narrowly escaped being killed.

In an affidavit, Hale says:

"I was approached by agents of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, who offered me a monetary consideration if I would discontinue my activities, which I refused. They then insinuated that other methods would be employed to force me to cease organizing.

"On Saturday evening, April 20, we had arranged a meeting at Hillman station, and when we arrived at the hall that had been engaged for the meeting, we were refused admittance by armed men, generally known as gun men in the employ of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, and compelled to leave. The same gun men followed myself and Organizer J. C. Lowney, of Birmington, wherever we went that evening.

"On Sunday afternoon following we encountered the same experience at a meeting arranged at Mason city hall by the same gun men, accompanied by several others.

Attached to the affidavit is a reproduction of the notice sent to the owner of one of the halls:

We, the Patriotical Committee understand that you have allowed the I. W. W. or German agitators to hold meetings in your hall on the 16th of Apr. inst. We the Committee feel that you did not know some things that we did and We notify you now, for if you allow them meetings to continue you may lose your hall some how or something may happen. We can't tell you must be loyal to your country & State.

United In Spirit And Purpose

By PRESIDENT GOMPERS, IN AMERICAN FEDERATIONIST

Will the battle line of freedom hold against the onslaughts of autocracy's military machine? This is the question uppermost in the minds of liberty loving men the world over. The answer is: It will, it must! For upon that line hangs the destiny of the world for decades to come. The line can hold back the offensive and drive the invaders out of the republic of France on if it is the concentrated expression of national determination unfailingly supplying men, munitions food and every accoutrement required.

Workers of America, the safety of the battle in France depends mainly now upon us. We must furnish the majority of those in the trenches. We must build the ships that carry the troops and munitions of war. Regardless of hidden danger we must maintain the life line of ships on the high seas which connect the fighting front with our national bases of supplies. We must make the guns, the munitions, the aeroplanes. We must have ready, food, clothing, blankets. We serve in the great industrial army that serves overseas with the fighting forces.

We must do all these things because a principle is involved that has to do with all we hold dear.

We must do all these things against a government that disregards the will of the governed—a government that pries into intimate relations of life and extends its supervision into smallest details and dominates all of them. We are fighting against the enslavement of women and the mutilation of the lives and bodies of little children. We are fighting against barbarous practices of warring upon civilian populations, killing the wounded, the agents of mercy and those bearing the white flag of truce.

We are fighting for the ideal which is America—equal opportunity for all. We are fighting for political and economic freedom—national and international.

We are fighting for the right to join together freely in trade unions and the freedom and the advantages represented by that right.

Our country is now facing a crisis to meet which continuity of war production is essential. Workers, decide every industrial question fully mindful of these men—fellow Americans—who are on the battle line, facing the enemies' guns, needing munitions of war to fight the battle for those of us back at home, doing work necessary but less hazardous. No strike ought to be inaugurated that can not be justified to the men facing momentary death. A strike during the war is not justified unless principles are involved equally fundamental as those for which fellow citizens have offered their lives—their all.

We must give this service without reserve until the war is won, serving the cause of human freedom, intelligent, alert, uncompromising wherever and whenever the principles of human freedom is involved.

We are in a great revolutionary period which we are shaping by molding every day relations between man and man. Workers of America as well as all other citizens have difficult tasks to perform that we might hand on to the future the ideals and institutions of America not only unimpaired, but strengthened and purified in spirit and in expression—thus performing the responsible duty of those entrusted with the high resolve to be free and perpetuate freedom.

Don't Experiment in Clothes-Buying Now!

Buy Madison Made Clothes

Made by Madison Men

THIS is no time to experiment in clothes. You may have enough money so that you can afford to take a chance on clothing of doubtful quality. But you can't afford to waste resources that our fighters need. When you buy inferior clothes you're not only wasting your money, but you're wasting labor and wool. You'll have to buy nearly two cheap cotton mixed suits to get the wear that is in one good all-wool suit. That requires nearly twice as much labor and at least one-half again as much wool.

Buy Our Hand-Tailored All-Wool clothes for long wear, economy and guaranteed satisfaction

THIS Spring you want your clothes money to go farther than ever before. It will, if you come to this shop to have your clothes custom-made right here in Madison.

Why Not Patronize Home Trade and Keep the Home Fires Burning

—These clothes are all made in our own little shop by men who are making their dollars in Madison and are spending every dollar in Madison for the support of themselves and their families. Then during these trying times why should not YOU patronize this shop to keep the Home fires burning and keep every dollar that is not used for the conduct of war in our own little city.

Why Pay the Price of Custom-Tailored Clothes Without Getting Them?

—If a nickel would buy you a taxicab ride to any part of Madison—would you be satisfied to ride in a street car?

—Certainly not. No man will knowingly accept "next best" service—if the "best" is within reach.

—Then why spend $35 or $40 for a ready-made suit—cut in stock size—tailored in a "take-it-or-leave-it" fashion and fabric when the same money will enable you to have your spring suit built exactly to your taste and your body-measures?

—Of course, you can take the money to a clothing store and buy a ready-made suit—if you want to. But you will be paying more than the price of made-to-order style; individuality, and fit—without getting them. Is that good judgment? We will leave the answer to you.

We Guarantee that our clothes are made of all-wool because that wears the best and lasts the longest.

We Guarantee these clothes to be made in our shop to your INDIVIDUAL MEASURE

Better Be Measured Tomorrow!

Billy Sunday Slams Single That Brings Victory For National Old-Timers At Chi

Rain Stops Game Between Former Big League Stars Under 1880 Rules

CHICAGO — Baseball stars of former generation met in battle Thursday in a game staged despite of the rain for several hundred Jackies from the Great Naval Training station.

Among the veterans were Billy Sunday, once the fastest sprinter in the National league; Fred Pfeffer, one of the greatest second baseman the game has known; Tony Mullane, who pitched for the Reds when Comiskey, played first base, and Jimmy Ryan of the old Colts.

The veterans were divided into two teams, the all-nations and the all-Americans. The Nationals won the game in the fourth, on a single by Billy Sunday. At that time the score was 14 to 9, when rain made continuation impossible.

Baseball rules of 1880 governed the Old Timers' war charity game at White Sox park. First bounce out hits rolling foul and still fair are parts of the ancient code which puzzled fans. Tony Mullane pitched for the Americans and Wee Willie McGill for the Nationals.

NORMAN, Okla.—The annual track and field meet of the Southwestern Conference, in which about ten schools of the southwest are expected to participate, will be held at the University of Oklahoma field here Saturday, May 11. The meet is expected to bring together the cream of athletes from Oklahoma and Texas schools. The University of Arkansas, although a conference member, will not take part.

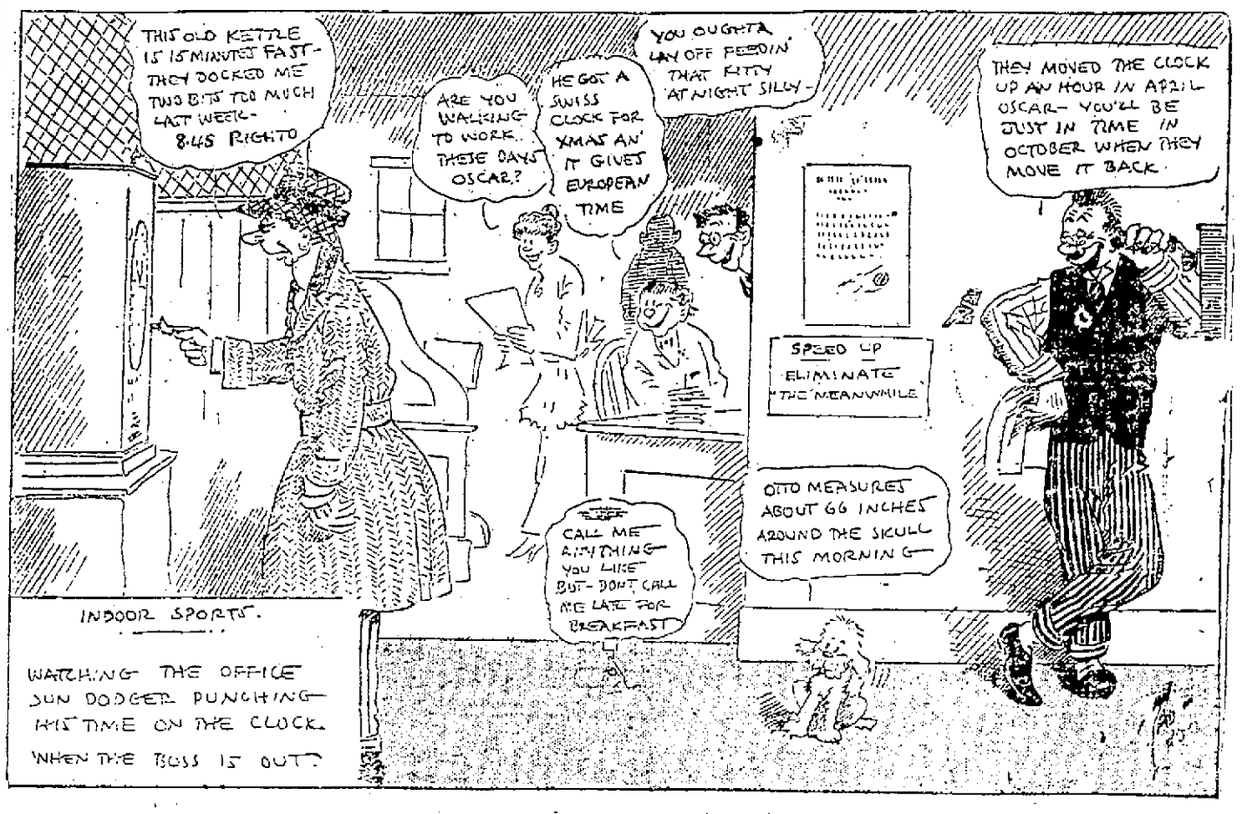

The University of Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college, the University of Texas, the Texas A. and M. College and Baylor university are among the larger schools to compete.

ST. LOUIS—Clifton Heathcote, the University of Pennsylvania outfielder, who came to the St. Louis Nationals this season after a brilliant exhibition both in the field and at bat during the spring practice, will undergo further training with Houston in the Texas league.

LEE MAGEE A SURPRISE

Matty must have handed a bottle of heroin to the eminent Lee Magee when the latter joined the Cincinnati Reds. Mage set the Yankees back $22,500 when Col. Ruppert bought him from the Feds in 1916. He was a bloomer from the beginning to the end of his engagement at the Polo grounds. Last summer Magee was traded to the Browns for Marsans, but he didn't improve. Fielder Jones therefore was glad to get rid of him. But as a member of Matty's Reds Magee has startled his critics by hitting the ball on the trade mark. He also has played second base with astonishing results, although he never was considered a first class infielder. Matty probably has learned to handle this mysterious young man who has packed away nearly $40,000 in salary since he jumped the Cardinals in 1914.

Badger Track, Tennis And Baseball Teams Leave For Big Conferences Clashes

Chicago and Minnesota will be Wisconsin's chief opponents Saturday. The Badger baseball team plays the Maroons on the Midway diamond Saturday and the Wisconsin tennis team will engage the Chicago netmen in a match Saturday morning on the courts of the University of Chicago. Late Friday night the Wisconsin track team leaves for its first Big Ten track meet, a dual contest with Minnesota, and with these three contests scheduled, Badger athletes will be plenty busy on Saturday.

Captain Hancock of last year's football squad, will probably play his last game of baseball for Wisconsin against Chicago Saturday. Hancock is going to the next officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, and will not be able to play after the Maroon game Saturday. He will close a great career as a Wisconsin athlete, and his work in football will go down as the equal of many of the great western tackles. Schneiders is scheduled to take the mound against the Maroons.

The Badger tennis team which plays Chicago Saturday is composed of Captain Arthur C. Neilson and Henry Gotfredson, both of whom are leading tennis players at the university and who have a good chance of copping honors on the Midway.

The Gopher meet at Minneapolis Saturday will be the first conference meet of the year, but it will be the last one for Captain Harry Heintzen, Badger track captain, who will leave the university shortly for war work in the east. Wisconsin has about an even chance with the Gophers and a close meet is expected.

PASS EVIL HURTS ST. PAUL CLUB

Boxing Promoters Do Not Make Anything on Twin City Shows

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Though the Capital City Athletic club did not succeed in abating the pass evil at the Miske-Dempsey fight, the returns showing that about 380 of them were issued, officials of the organization say they are getting gray hairs in profusion as a result of the grief following in the train of their efforts to give the cash trade an opportunity to purchase choice seats.

Pass hounds literally besieged the office of the Capital City club Thursday and Friday, the crowds assuming almost fire sale proportions at times according to Jack Reddy, who, in desperation, was obliged to establish temporary headquarters elsewhere.

Several persons, according to Reddy, have threatened to have the law legalizing boxing repealed because they did not receive anywhere from twelve to twenty ducats. Batches of from two to six passes were turned back to the club by the incipients with indignation accompanied by threats, in some instances.

Along the fight rialto, there are vague rumors to "get" the Capital City club. The commissioners naturally are silent as to what takes place between themselves, but among the more well informed it is being whispered that a proposal has been made to take the Capital City club's license away by the simple process of bestowing it elsewhere. This move, according to those who say they know about it, was blocked by one of the commissioners who considered it little short of brigandage.

While with the Cardinals at San Antonio Heathcote was the star of the team. His several home runs won games and his fielding was declared excellent. Once pitted against major league competition, however, he appeared confused and was unable to show to good advantage.

Ed Wirka Is Easy Winner With Score of 633 In K. C. Singles; Tournament At End

When the Knights of Columbus singles tournament came to a close Thursday night, it was found that no one had bettered the score of 633 set by Ed Wirka the day before, and he was proclaimed the winner. The tourney is over, and is probably the last of the season's big pin events with the exception of the women's tourney Friday night.

The closest score to Wirka's 633 was Conohan's 584, and next in line came L. Fleury with 577, and G. Post with 575. The singles bowling was exceptionally high this year, and Wirka's score was higher than anything made in the city meet.

Mogridge About to Leave Yanks; Vet Pitcher Knows He's Through

NEW YORK — (Special) — Another veteran pitcher is about to sever his connections with the New York Yankees, and the staff which has been badly crippled since the opening of the season, becomes weaker as a result. George Mogridge, who has been a member of the club since the latter part of the 1915 season, has decided to retire from baseball and will leave in a few days to take up a position with the Bethlehem Steel company at Sparrows Point, Maryland.

Mogridge received an offer some time ago to take a position with the Bethlehem company and learn a trade. The southpaw confided to some of the Yankees that the offer did not amount to as much money as he is drawing down from the Yankees, but he decided that in view of future prospects and the uncertainty of lasting any length of time in him remain with the team. He declined and has served notice on the club officials that he is through with professional baseball for all time.

The departure of Mogridge leaves only Caldwell and Russell as veterans of the staff. The trade of Shocker and Cullop, followed by the enlistments of Fisher and Shawkey, reduced the veteran section of the Yankee staff to three members and now only two remain. The other pitchers on the staff are Thormahlen Love, Monroe and McGraw, all of whom have shown promise but have not reached the point where they can be counted upon as regulars.

Mogridge since coming to the Yankees, has been very successful against certain clubs but had little success against others. The Red Sox and White Sox, the strongest teams in the league, have fared the worst at his hands. A little more than a year ago he pitched a no-hit game against the Red Sox at Fenway park. During the present season Mogridge has scored three victories, though he was taken out of one game which he won.

Mogridge was a holdout when the Yankees began their training at Macon, but signed up two days after arriving at the training camp. He received a contract from the New York club calling for a reduction in salary of $300. As he had been receiving no unusually high contract he served notice on the club at the time that he would retire rather than submit to the cut in salary. He finally signed at the same salary which he drew down last year.

Special Trains Speed Race Fans To Churchill Downs For Kentucky Derby Classic

Sun Briar, War Cloud, and Escoba Are Favorites in Greatest Derby of Season

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Indications point to one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed the running of the Kentucky Derby on Saturday. Special trains from Chicago, Cincinnati and Nashville will bring large delegations of horse lovers to the city. Many parties from New York and other cities have made reservations at leading hotels. Binghamton, N. Y., home of W. S. Kilmer, owner of Sun Briar, will send a large delegation, probably the greatest to arrive from any city of equal population. There also will be many automobile parties from southern Indiana and Kentucky towns.

Everything is in readiness for the opening day at Churchill Downs. A number of improvements to the grounds plant has been made since last season and the Downs course may be said to be ready to accommodate the greatest crowd in its history.

The Derby field will not be a large one, but what it lacks in quantity will be made up in quality. It is doubtful whether a three-year-old race scheduled in this country in a quarter of a century has attracted better lot of colts.

Since the arrival of War Cloud at Churchill Downs, the Macomber colt has been established as the favorite by the so-called "wise" contingent and the eastern horse seems to be in a condition to justify their choice.

Sun Briar, since his return from Lexington, has had several fast workouts and his trainer thinks he has gotten over his disposition to sulk, as shown at Lexington and that he will be the horse that War Cloud will have to defeat.

Escoba, second choice of the layers of odds and the hope of Kentuckians in general, made a fine showing in his races at Lexington against older horses and his admirers point to this fact as being an advantage over horses which have not faced the barrier this season.

Among the other Derby candidates, which started at Lexington, Lucky B and Sewell Combs made the best showing and made many supporters by their good showing.

James T. Clark has made several sensational trials at the Downs and the host of admirers things he has an excellent chance of capturing the great race.

Freecutter, the hope of George J. Long of this city, had to be thrown out of training owing to illness and will not likely be sent to the post.

ROUNDY'S CORNER

John Hickey is going to Chicago to visit. He always buys a big building when down there. The last time he bought Marshal Field's store. They say Barnum was right when he says a sucker is born every minute.

George Esser sure was in fine form at the K. C. bowling tournament. George shows much better form in the argument league than on the alleys.

Fred Hayes sure is happy these days after watching the Giants go. Fred says they are the best team in the world. But he did not say in the world series.

Terry Turner, Cleveland third baseman, is called the old man of baseball now. The last year Smiley Smith played with Madsion he could call Hans Wagner a kid.

Ed Schmitz is going to try a come-back at pitching this year. If Ed suffers as much with pain as he used to with that old soup bone of his they will have to have the humane society watch him.

Bill Gary is singing to the fish now to catch them. They come right up and look over the water and then they see Bill. Good night.

Walter Dobson, head waiter at Keeley's Palace of Sweets, is wearing a new stiff hat. From appearances he must have stolen it from the historical library. Some relic.

The Wisconsin swimming team is short of a fancy diver. After watching Roberts, Wisconsin center fielder try to stop ground balls we should judge he would make good.

LADIES' TOURNEY SET FOR TONIGHT

WHAT CICOTTE SAYS OF CRICKET.

An English sportsman who was resting at Mineral Wells was much interested in the Chicago White Sox, and in Eddie Cicotte especially. He had heard that Cicotte was the leading pitcher of the American league last season and couldn't understand why an athlete, apparently so short could be such a marvel.

On being introduced one day this Englishman asked Cicotte if he ever took part in any other line of sports. "O, yes," replied the pitcher. "I'm quite fond of deer and bird hunting and also in driving a car.

"Ah, that is excellent," said the Englishman. "And may I inquire if you ever play cricket?"

"Cricket!" That's a bug game," responded Cicotte.

To this day the Englishman doesn't know what Cicotte meant by his reference.

DISMISS CLASSES EARLY

Classes at Madison high school were to be dismissed early Friday afternoon to permit a large attendance at the first athletic meet of the year when over fifty athletes will compete in class championship contests. The senior class is figured as having the best chance of copping the meet between the classes as most of the varsity team is composed of seniors.

CINCINNATI—Harry Greb, the Pittsburg middleweight, and Al McCoy will meet in the wind-up of a boxing show here Monday night, May 13.

Slim Caldwell has promised to win thirty games for the Yankees this season. Slim is the most promising young pitcher on Miller Huggins' payroll.

If the Giants do succeed in making a joke of the old league campaign this summer they should come very close to fracturing a record the Cubs made back in 1906, when Frank Chance's boys won the flag with a mark of .763, winning 116 games and losing thirty-six. No club in the major leagues before or since has ever equaled this record. To win 116 games a club must outclass the rest of the league. The Cubs of 1906 stood heads and shoulders beyond their company. Apparently the Giants of 1918 stand just as far beyond the rest of the league as Chance's record makers did. The Giants broke the consecutive game record of the Providence club in 1916. The Providence mark had stood for thirty-six years. Now they seem to be after the season's games won record of the Cubs of 1916.

E. F. U. ELECTS N. J. WILLIAMS PRESIDENT

Pledges Support to Government; to Buy U. S. Securities

Following the election of Norton J. Williams as president of the Equitable Fraternal union on Thursday, resolutions pledging the support of the union to the government and instructing the supreme assembly to instruct the board of supreme trustees to invest in United States government securities were adopted.

Following the adoption of the resolutions, it was decided that the next convention of the union which is to be held in 1922, will be held at Neenah, although an attempt was made by Judge John C. Karel to have the next convention held in Milwaukee.

The following set of resolutions were adopted at the afternoon session of the convention:

"Whereas, the Wisconsin delegates and members of the Equitable Fraternal union are loyal in their support of the federal government, and

"Whereas, it is their desire to contribute their share for victory in the present war with honor and permanent peace.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we do recommend for consideration by the supreme assembly of the E. F. U. to be held in Milwaukee next month that they make all and necessary provision for carrying out every demand made by the federal administration; to devise means to aid and comfort the soldier boys; and to adopt means to disseminate the facts concerning the war needs among its members.

"America is at war for all humanity against autocracy and barbarism. This holy war demands of us all, full measure of spiritual devotion and financial support to the end that our exalted purpose shall be achieved; that victory shall crown our efforts and right shall prevail. The delegates from the local assemblies of Wisconsin assembled in state convention of the E. F. U. recognize that this society shall lend aid and support to the conduct of the war.

"Therefore be it resolved that we do request that the supreme assembly of the E. F. U. shall by resolution instruct the board of supreme trustees to invest in United States government securities all moneys of the society available for such investment during the period of the present war."

Wisconsin Crop Report

The joint crop report of the U. S. bureau of crop estimates and the Wisconsin department of agriculture issued today at Madison states:

WINTER WHEAT

With a total abandonment of 45 per cent of the total acreage planted to winter wheat in Wisconsin last fall due ti winter-killing, it is estimated that the acreage remaining to be harvested is 67 per cent of the acreage harvested last year, or 62,000 acres compared to 93,000 acres in 1917. The average abandonment for the past ten years is 7 per cent. The damage to the crop was very general throughout the state, some of the counties with the largest acreage of winter wheat reporting a loss of 75 per cent or more. Much of the abandoned acreage has been reseeded to spring wheat so that the loss from winter-killing will not seriously affect the total acreage of wheat for the state. The condition of the crop on May 1 is estiametd at 65 per cent, compored to 81 per cent on April 1, and 92 per cent on May 1 last year, and a ten-year average of 89. The poor stand in many fields left for harvest, together with the cold weather during April accounts for the present low condition. The probable production based on May 1 condition, is estimated at 947,000 bushels compared to 2,232,000 bushels harvested last year.

RYE

The rye crop came through the winter without serious damage except in a few counties. The total abandonment due to winter-killing is estimated at 10 per cent. Due to the unfavorable growing weather during April rye made but little growth up to May 1, hence the low condition reported; but the favorable weather of the past week is bringing the crop ahead rapidly. The total estimated acreage remaining to be harvested is 426,000 acres, compared to 410,000 acres harvested last year, or an increase of 16,000 acres. The condition of the crop on May 1 is estimated at 86 per cent., compared to 88 per cent. on April 1, and 95 per cent. on May 1 last year, and a 10-year average of 92 per cent. The total estimated production based upon May 1 condition is placed at 6,998,000 bushels compared to 7,585,000 bushels harvested last year.

HAY

Because of the widespread damage to clover, the total acreage of hay to be harvested in Wisconsin will fall, it is estimated, 11 per cent. below that of last year. Were it not for the fact that there has been a very general movement to make up the shortage of clover hay by the sowing of springs crops such as oats and peas to be cut for hay, the acreage to be harvested for hay in the state would be much lower.

PASTURES

The condition of pastures in Wisconsin on May 1, 68 per cent., is very low due to the cold weather during April. During the past week, because of the warm weather and copious rains, grass had made remarkable growth. The condition of pastures on May 1 last year was 77 per cent. and the average condition for the past ten years is 84 per cent.

PLOWING AND PLANTING

Spring work generally is much further advanced than usual, due to the open season since the middle of March. Some spring wheat was sown the latter part of March and most of the small grains were in the ground by May 1. Spring work generally was from ten days to two weeks ahead of usual on May 1. It is estimated that 77 per cent of the plowing was completed in the state on May 1, compared to 71 per cent on May 1, 1917, and a ten-year average of 65 per cent.

UNCOVER VEILED WARNING OF I. W. W. POWER

Article Says Organization is "Dead Game" for Any Measures Necessary

CHICAGO — A veiled warning to the government of the strength of the Industrial Workers of the World was contained in an article placed in the records today by the prosecution in the seditious conspiracy trial of 112 leaders of the organization.

"We have shown the world how to block the machinery of justice" said the article, published in an official organ on Aug. 18, 1917, when the government contends the anti-war conspiracy was most vigorous.

"The slow-down plan and mass opposition to unjust regulations would work as well in detention camps as on the job. The widespread knowledge of punitive sabotage upon modern industry gives the militant portion of the working class the power to stop or disrupt production at will.

"The membership of the I. W. W. is conscious of its power and knows how to achieve its ends and is dead game to take whatever measures are necessary to do so."

Another article said "there are too many of us for you to handle, no matter how many machine guns, bayonets and gallows you array against us.

"If the merciless despots of invincible government see fit to legalize the methods of the iron heel they will legalize the methods of the wooden shoe (sabotage).

"Fellow workers, the final battle is on. Find your places and be prepared!"

At about the time America entered the war, the membership was advised that the "United States attorney general advises everybody to keep his mouth shut or be pinched That's good advice in times of war, when slavery is forced upon the workers. They should keep their mouths shut and let the 'cat' (sabotage) do the work."

GLASS FOUND IN PRISONER'S FOOD

Sheriff Ireland Makes Investigation After Discovery

What is believed to have been an attempt on the life of John Breen, a federal prisoner, was unearthed in the county jail Thursday morning by Sheriff Henry Ireland.

Breen, who is being held by the federal authorities as a draft evader was quartered on the second floor of the jail with several other prisoners. At breakfast Thursday morning the prisoners were given oatmeal and milk. The other prisoners finished their oatmeal without complaining but after Breen had taken the first spoonful he bit into ground glass. He tried a second spoonful with the same result.

Breen refused to eat any more of the oatmeal and summoned the turnkey. The turnkey removed the oatmeal and Sheriff Ireland was called to examine it. The examination of the oatmeal brought to light about four dozen small pieces of ground glass.

All of the federal prisoners were thereupon locked up in separate cells and an investigation started. This investigation resulted in finding two broken window panes on the second floor of the jail. Despite rigid questioning all of the prisoners quartered on the second floor of the jail denied thatt hey had placed ground glass in the oatmeal.

However, three men are under suspicion. The sheriff is continuing the investigation.

HOLD OVER ORDERS OF 8,741,882 TONS

NEW YORK—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation on April 30, last, amounted to 8,741,882 tons, according to the monthly statement issued today. This is a decrease of 319,522 tons compared with the orders on March 31.

DEFERRED CLASS MEN BUY FARMS

Draft Board Hearing Discloses Fact When 12 Are Called

A peculiar condition was discovered at the hearing held before District Attorney Harry Sauthoff, government appeal agent for District No. 1, of the twelve men cited to appear and show cause why they should not be taken from the deferred class, when it was learned that a number of them had purchased farms after the passing of the selective service act, some even borrowing the money from their fathers to make the purchase.

These men, according to District Attorney Sauthoff, produced evidence to the effect that they had already planted seed and they were allowed to remain in the deferred class by the board until the fall harvest, after which they will be placed in Class No. 1.

"It appeared to me that these farms were purchased by these men in an attempt to evade the draft, but as they had already planted their seed, the board decided to give them an opportunity to harvest the crop this fall,' said Mr. Sauthoff.

Two of the twelve men were found to be guilty of having failed to perform the work for which they were given deferred classification and were immediately placed in Class No. 1, which means that they will be drafted into the national army in the next call.

The cases of two others were held open for further investigation and should the facts warrant, Mr. Sauthoff said, they will be placed in Class No. 1.

When Stanley Farrell was summoned into the room to show cause why he should not be taken from the deferred class, he startled the board by stating that they could take him immediately if they would furnish a man to run his farm.

"I'll go right over to the recruiting office and enlist if you will furnish a man to take my place on the farm," he stated.

It was discovered in his case, as was in several of the cases, that there was jealousy behind the reports made to the board which caused the action. Neighbors who had sons drafted, declared Mr. Sauthoff, did not think it was right that others should remain at home and therefore lodged a complaint with the board.

MARKETS

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO—Predictions of warmer weather turned the corn today downgrade. At first, however, prices had an upward tendency owing to the frosts last night and to other conditions adverse to planting and to the movement of the crop. Extensive wire trouble curtailed business to a material extent, and caused the market to be easily influenced. Opening quotations, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛c higher, with May 1.27½ and July 1.47⅝ to 1.47⅞, were followed by a decided setback.

Oats swayed with corn. General commission house selling accompanied the break in prices. After opening ⅛c off to ⅝c advance, with July 68 to 68¼, the market receded sharply all around.

Provisions were ruled by the action of grain. High prices on hogs had only a transient effect.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK—The stock market hummed with activity today, the turnover of the first hour approaching half a million shares. Movements were confusing, however, on the extensive profit-taking. United States Steel continued to dominate the list but reacted almost two points from its early high quotations at noon, when other industrials also parted with some of their gains. Rails retained much of their advantage, Union Pacific showing notable strength. Sumatra tobacco made an extreme gain of six points, subsequently losing half its rise. The market seemed to ignore the heaviness of Liberty bonds. The 4¼'s sold down steadily from 99.10 to 98.80, 3½'s sold at 98.90 to 98.94; first 4's at 95.84 to 95.94 and second 4's at 95.84 to 95.90.

WAGE INCREASES NOT SATISFACTORY

Employes of Chicago Railroads Will Protest to National Organizations

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Employes of railroads in Chicago said today that the wage increase recommended by the railroad wage board was not satisfactory. They said the increase should be added to the 1918 rates and not those in force in 1915. Most of the objectors asserted that the provision subtracting increases granted since 1915 would wipe out all the increases presumed to be made by the wage board. Heads of several of the local unions of railroad employes said protests would be made to their national organizations with a view to having the objections placed before Director General McAdoo.
